When you buy land from a good real estate company it guarantees your title to the property.

When you buy clothes from a good tailor he guarantees their fit.

Every good business man guarantees his products, and exacts a guarantee on what he buys.

How about buying circulation? There are two kinds: "guaranteed," and the other kind.

The above figures will not interest advertisers who prefer the other kind.

Publisher's announcement.

CITY OF NEW YORK } ss.
COUNTY OF KINGS. }

James R. Davis, being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the editor and manager of the CHAT, a newspaper published every Saturday at 16-18 Weirfield street, Brooklyn, and that each and every issue of the said newspaper during the year 1907 exceeded 55,000 copies, and that the average circulation for the fifty-two (52) weeks of 1907 exceeded 55,153 perfect copies.

JAMES R. DAVIS.

Sworn to before me this 21st }
day of January, 1908. }

EDWIN F. FERRY, Notary Public for County Kings, State of New York.

Brooklyn is a city composed of former villages. These grew until their border lines were obliterated, yet retaining village social connections. CHAT serves them much as a country weekly performs its mission. Not carrying the news peculiar to the great dailies of the town, but catering entirely to the personal life of its readers. They find in it news of themselves, their friends and relatives. It interests in this way twenty-two villages. It is kept and read and handed about, being much more thoroughly perused than the average daily, and procures marvelous results for its advertisers. We refer to any of the practical advertisers using CHAT. Sample copy on application. CHAT's circulation is greater than any other paper published in Brooklyn.

Publisher's announcement.—The Cleveland News of to-day is the product of three old-established newspapers, bought separately by Chas. A. Otis and consolidated in 1905 under his ownership and management. Retaining all the best features of the three old papers, The News immediately became independent, and while avoiding the unduly sensational, built up a reputation for aggressiveness and bright treatment of news of the day, coupled with square dealing.

It is the only afternoon Associated Press paper in Cleveland, and has a strong foothold in the homes, and the second largest afternoon circulation in the State outside of Cincinnati. One price to all advertisers for like service. Address the home office, or the L. H. Crall Company, agents foreign advertising, New York and Chicago.

Publisher's announcement.—The circulation of the WECHTER UND ANZEIGER is a strictly home circulation. According to United States Census Report, 44.9 per cent of all the homes owned in Cleveland are owned by Germans. Cleveland's population at this time is close to 500,000. Cuyahoga county has a population of more than 650,000. Forty per cent of this population is German. These Germans are well-to-do—they are Home Owners. You can put yourself into communication with this German population by using the columns of Cleveland's German paper—the WECHTER UND ANZEIGER—published daily and Sunday. No street sales. Every copy goes direct into the homes. This insures many readers for each copy printed. The German Consolidated Newspaper Company, Publishers, 1566-1570 West Third St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Publisher's announcement.—Our two papers cover Delaware city and county completely. The fact that practically the whole of the circulation is delivered to regular subscribers enhances its value to advertisers.

JOURNAL-HERALD; every evening except Sunday, and WEEKLY, Thursdays; democratic; daily eight, Saturday sixteen pages 15x22, weekly eight pages 17x24; subscription—daily $5, weekly $1.50; established 1837; J. D. Knowles, editor; Knowles & Murray, publishers (6—3).

Copies printed: For the year 1903 the daily edition of this paper seemed to assert that it had an average issue exceeding 1,000 copies, but failed to furnish such definite information as would warrant the accordance of a rating to that effect. It has not since made any renewal of the claim.

The weekly edition has on three occasions indicated a desire to have credit for issuing more than 1,000 copies regularly, but such definite information as would warrant such a rating has never been forthcoming.

Publisher's announcement.—REGISTER's total net average circulation for 1907 was 8,875. Official examination of A. A. A., made Oct. 10, 1906, showed REGISTER was the only Sandusky paper that permitted a full and complete examination of all circulation records, and "the only Sandusky paper that had held and increased its circulation during the year." Advertisers have privilege of using any edition at same rate as named in contract for that edition, thereby securing much larger individual circulation than any other Sandusky paper. The REGISTER carried three times more want ads than any other daily paper, and 38 per cent more local advertising in 1907. Member Select List Ohio daily papers. Publisher's announcement.—The daily average circulation of the several editions of the JOURNAL in 1907 was as follows: Daily (exclusive of Sunday), 28,905; Sunday, 26,548; semi-weekly, 11,213. In January, 1908, the average circulation of the daily edition was 29,531, and the Sunday edition, 27,637. In Oregon the JOURNAL, though only in its sixth year of publication, surpasses all other dailies in local display and foreign display advertising, and in classified business excels its only evening competitor in Portland by over fifty per cent. Within a radius of 60 miles of Portland the JOURNAL's paid circulation exceeds that of any other daily by at least 20 per cent, which accounts for the larger volume of advertising carried and the greater results obtained by advertisers using its columns, as testified to by them.

Publisher's announcement.—The PACIFIC MONTHLY has a larger net circulation than any other magazine published in the Far West, and it is the only magazine published in the United States, which thoroughly covers the country West of the East Colorado Line. It has a clientele of readers which is unsurpassed by that of any other magazine in the United States. During 1907 the net gain in monthly circulation amounted to 70%; the net gain in advertising amounted to 98%, and the net gain in the cash value of advertising amounted to 400%, making possible the erection and installing of the finest, most modern and most complete magazine publishing plant West of St. Louis. The PACIFIC MONTHLY carried during 1907, 100% more Eastern advertising than its nearest competitor in the West. Average monthly circulation guaranteed for 1908, 125,000.

Publisher's announcement.—The TRIBUNE is the only evening daily in the great Cambria-Somerset steel, coal and agricultural region. The character of its circulation will appeal to "clean" advertisers. If "quality counts," it has that desirability, combined with quantity. The WEEKLY TRIBUNE is "the weekly" of the same region. The TRIBUNE desires "clean" advertising at card rates.

The TRIBUNE's sworn statements show an increase in circulation of more than 21 per cent during 1907. The volume of advertising has increased 30 per cent. No advertising can properly cover Johnstown and vicinity without making use of the TRIBUNE.

Publisher's announcement.—The EVENING ITEM has a sworn average circulation of 242,400 and the SUNDAY ITEM a sworn average circulation of 253,030. THE ITEM is now the only daily paper in Philadelphia that swears to its circulation, and proves it by detailed statements of the sales by dealers, stores, etc.; also sworn to by the Circulation Manager and verified by the Paper Company. A $5,000 challenge by THE ITEM to all the Philadelphia newspapers, offering to prove that THE ITEM had more circulation than any one, daily and Sunday, has not been accepted. The above facts prove, indisputably, that THE ITEM has more paid circulation than any Philadelphia newspaper. Besides, it is the only Republican evening paper, and we have elected Mayor Reyburn for four years by a vote of 130,658. Millions of Dollars will be spent by the new Administration, and you can reach this money through no other paper but the Philadelphia ITEM.

The following Challenge was originally published in THE PHILADELPHIA ITEM, October 19, 1902, and although it has been repeatedly published since, the papers have not dared accept it:

$40,000 TO THE WINNER

“The Item” Challenges the Entire Press of Philadelphia to Prove their Circulation

“THE ITEM” EXCEEDS THEM ALL

More Paid Daily Circulation Than Any One, and More Than Several Combined on Sunday

There has been much discussion of late among the Philadelphia newspapers, as to which, morning, evening or Sunday, had the LARGEST CIRCULATION.

THE ITEM has always claimed it, and it has generally been conceded that its claims were justified.

However, in order to settle the dispute for all time, we hereby make a public offer to go into a competition with ALL the Philadelphia newspapers—morning, evening and Sunday—and see which is entitled to the Banner Circulation.

The test is to be conducted by a representative of each paper, and one gentleman connected with each of the Larger Department Stores. This would constitute a Committee of fifteen, who would be authorized to examine all cash receipts for papers, returns, Agents' and Carriers' accounts, paper bills, etc. In fact, everything connected with the Circulation Department. The investigation to cover one month from the day it begins, and the report of the Committee to be final and without dispute, and to be published, without charge, on the first page of all the papers.

Each of the Philadelphia Newspapers to deposit FIVE ($5,000) THOUSAND, or FORTY ($40,000) THOUSAND DOLLARS in all, in a Trust Company to be agreed upon, and the paper conceded to have the LARGEST BONA-FIDE CIRCULATION IN PHILADELPHIA to take the WHOLE AMOUNT.

As we stated above, THE ITEM expects to prove not only that it has the LARGEST DAILY CIRCULATION, but also that it has the LARGEST SUNDAY CIRCULATION; indeed, that it has more, on the latter day, than THREE OF THE SUNDAY PAPERS COMBINED.

Publisher's announcement.—SPORTING LIFE is a recognized official sportmen's journal, published every Saturday. It has been established twenty-four years, and is devoted to base ball and trap shooting. In both of these lines it is unquestioned authority, and in one—Base Ball—it has created a special field for itself such as no other paper in the world has ever developed or occupied; also contains each week the latest events in the Trap Shooting world, with items of interest to the trade and value to the manufacturers. The information which it contains is always reliable.

It is on sale by newsdealers everywhere from Canada to the Gulf and from Maine to California at 5 cents the copy.

Advertising rate is 15 cents a line. No time, cash or space discounts whatever. The same rate applies to 1 inch or 1 page.

WANT AD MEDIUMS

There are about fifty papers in the United States and Canada which advertise regularly in the Want-Ad Department of Printers' Ink. The belief is very general, among those who know, that a large volume of Want Business is a popular vote for the newspaper in which it appears. These fifty papers are anxious to proclaim to the out-of-town advertisers that they are leaders in the classified field. They regard Printers' Ink as the best medium for the purpose. That their belief is well founded is strikingly illustrated by the fact that most of them have been represented in the Want-Ad Department ever since it was started—nearly four years ago.

Mr. Publisher, if you have the Want-Ad business of your town, or a fair share of it, your paper ought to be added to the fifty. If you have not the Classified business, don't ask for a position in this Department.

The cost of service is $20.80 for a two-line announcement for one year. Each additional line costs twenty cents per insertion.

15,687 in 1907

 The absolute correctness of the latest circulation rating accorded the Local News is guaranteed by the publishers of Rowell's American Newspaper Directory, who will pay one hundred dollars to the first person who successfully controverts its accuracy.

Publisher's announcement.—Here is a point exclusively enjoyed by the NEWS, so far as inland journalism is concerned. Of its 15,687 circulation, it has a mail list of over 5,000, an exhibit that is scarcely equaled by any newspaper in the United States with a similar field. There are no agents employed in connection with this particular feature of its business, the mails alone doing the service of distribution. The up-to-date advertiser cannot fail in recognizing this worth. It means to him a class of people in the rural sections with whom he is always glad to be in touch, a class whose custom is at all times desirable, and with whom it pays to be in close business relations. The NEWS is the reliable "middle man" in the matter of effecting such relationship. Chester Co., Pa., is the second richest agricultural district in the United States. Its people are readers.

THE GAZETTE

is the morning paper of York and York county. The only Democratic paper in a Democratic district with a population of over 150,000, rich in manufactures and agriculture, whose products go to every part of the civilized world. You want to share in this prosperity, Mr. Advertiser, and therefore must reckon with the GAZETTE circulation. It is bona fide and a sure puller. It covers York county like a blanket. It goes into the homes of the people and is read. No advertiser can afford to do without it.

DAILY.

JOURNAL AND TRIBUNE; every morning, and WEEKLY, Wednesdays; republican; daily and weekly eight, Sunday thirty-two to forty-eight pages 17x23; subscription—daily $3, Sunday $2, weekly 50 cents; established—Journal 1839, Tribune 1816; consolidated July, 1898; Wm. Rule, editor; The Journal and Tribune Company, publishers (2-8).

Copies printed: daily: 8,382 in 1901
15,060 in 1904
13,013 in 1905
13,692 in 1906
14,694 in 1907

The weekly edition had credit for an average issue of 14,063 in 1903 and 14,513 in 1904, since which it has not furnished a report, but was credited with more than 7,500 in 1907.

 The absolute correctness of the latest circulation rating accorded the Journal is guaranteed by the publishers of Rowell's American Newspaper Directory, who will pay one hundred dollars to the first person who successfully controverts its accuracy.

Publisher's announcement.—The JOURNAL AND TRIBUNE occupies the exclusive morning field, publishes the only Sunday paper in Knoxville, making it the only paper which can absolutely cover the entire city of Knoxville. Present population of Knoxville and suburbs, 80,000.

It is the only paper that can reach the 42 rural routes of Knox county (population, 100,000; rural free delivery service covers 6,851 houses) and 500 routes in East Tennessee on the day of publication. Pays more postage than all other publications combined mailed out of Knoxville, entitled to second-class rates (of which there are sixteen). Certificate from postmaster as to our postage bill sent on demand.

Average sworn week-day circulation for last three months of 1907 was 16,286. Also leads in quality. Mgr. Foreign Adv. Dept., Vreeland-Benjamin, New York and Chicago.

11,482 in 1904
10,562 in 1905
11,180 in 1906
12,352 in 1907

For the year 1897 the weekly edition seemed to assert that it had an average issue exceeding 1,000 copies, but failed to furnish such definite information as would warrant the accordance of a rating to that effect. It has not since made any renewal of the claim.

Publisher's announcement.—During the year 1907 the SENTINEL carried 9,623 inches more local advertising in its six publication days per week than did the Journal and Tribune in its seven issues per week.

The largest department store in Knoxville contracts for 50 per cent more advertising in the SENTINEL than it does in the Journal and Tribune, and the rates paid each paper are exactly the same. The SENTINEL is also the recognized want-advertising medium of the city.

The circulation of the SENTINEL for the month of December, 1907, averaged 13,121 daily. The advertising rate of the SENTINEL is inflexible. All advertisers are treated exactly alike. No part of your appropriation for Knoxville or East Tennessee should be placed before getting rates from the SENTINEL.

Publisher's announcement.—The testimony of the local advertiser is the best testimony a newspaper can offer. The Memphis COMMERCIAL APPEAL during 1907 printed 1,699,152 agate lines more local advertising than the other Memphis paper. The local advertising alone of the COMMERCIAL APPEAL was 252,168 agate lines more than the combined local foreign and classified advertising of the other paper. Its total advertising was 3,024,940 agate lines more than the other paper. These figures are stupendous, and this testimony from the advertisers as to how they regard the COMMERCIAL APPEAL probably places it in its field one of the most conspicuous and pre-eminent newspapers of the United States.

As to circulation, the COMMERCIAL APPEAL's average during 1907 was 42,066 net paid daily, 61,173 net paid Sunday, and 80,078 net paid weekly. Ninety-seven per cent of the COMMERCIAL APPEAL's city circulation is delivered direct into the homes, and this home delivery circulation is guaranteed to be 40 per cent more than any other Memphis paper. The growth of the COMMERCIAL APPEAL's circulation is of a solid, substantial nature, as the figures, year to year, in the American Newspaper Directory above show. Its circulation represents the best of quality, as well as its large excess circulation in its field. FELD UND FLUR; monthly; German; agricultural; sixteen to twenty pages

The American Home Journal

Has three points that the advertiser should consider:

It's the oldest magazine in the Southwest.

It's read and paid for by more prosperous people than any Texas publication.

It's published in the heart of the richest country on the globe. Over $400,000,000 of cotton alone is marketed every year by the people in its near-by territory.

There are three other reasons that deserve consideration:

Its subscription list is a paid one—not a dead head or delinquent on the list.

It's a welcome guest wherever it goes because it has been invited to come by the host sending a big round dollar as an invitation card.

It gives the advertiser results. Some of them have never missed an issue in the six years of its publication. Some of them have paid us thousands of dollars and none of them are philanthropists. They simply see it pays.

52,000 Net Paid Circulation.

Rates: 30c. an agate line. Forms close on the 20th.

Publisher's announcement.—The selling price of the NEWS-LEADER was increased in August, 1907, from one cent to two cents a copy, or ten cents a week delivered by carriers. The average circulation of the paper for 1906 was 28,117 and about the same at the time of the change. The raise in price practically cut off only duplicates, as shown by careful investigation, leaving the average 26,583, with daily evidences that the returns to advertisers are distinctly better than formerly, and emphasizing that this newspaper is the best advertising medium south of Washington.

The NEWS-LEADER has the Associated Press franchise and all other news services and features of like standard character. It is printed in a building erected for its exclusive use, and its two quadruple presses, with color decks, are supplemented by every mechanical facility for quickness and perfection. Inquiries in regard to publicity in Virginia solicited and prompt and accurate service guaranteed. Advertisers should communicate with Hand, Knox & Co., Brunswick building, New York—Boyce building, Chicago, or Victoria building, St. Louis, for rates and further information.

Publisher's announcement.—The HERALD's circulation is larger than all other Bellingham dailies combined, and advertisers are guaranteed this "for no pay." It is the only newspaper north of Seattle owning and operating a Hoe press and taking the complete leased wire service of the Associated Press. Its only competitor that ever attempted to take this service abandoned it last December, leaving the HERALD the only Bellingham paper taking anything more than a pony Associated Press report. Bellingham is a city of 35,000, one hundred miles north of Seattle, on one of the best harbors on the Pacific Ocean, the commercial and business center of the great northwest region of the State, with a prosperous population of 150,000. It is the fourth city of the State, and the fifth city in population and importance in the entire region from Sacramento north to the British line, and from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean. The HERALD is the only single medium covering the northwestern section of Washington.
